Editorial

How IT WORKS
Have you ever paused to reflect on the effect of winter on the operation of a railway apart from the fact that the trains will occasionally be late, or even stalled for a time, in heavy drifts and that snowplows will be called out to get them running again? Chances are you never have and well you may ask "Why should I?" However, it is nonetheless interesting to note that Triboveck, it is honditudess microstanty to note inst-railways have worked it all out on a scientific basis and thay can tell you just how a locomotive will per-form under varying climatic conditions. "Tests have been made," says Ed Donohoe in the Canadian National Magazine, Doesmbre last, "to de-termine exactly what freight tonnage any CNR locomotive with a given rating can haul over each piece of track under given sets of conditions." Continuing the author explains: "The tests have Continuing the author explains: "The teets have shown that to conform with the laws of physics successive reductions from full tonnage must be made as the weather becomes color. Let us look at the picture. In summer, one large freight locomotive will normally haul the equivalent of 96 fully loaded freight cars. As the thermometer drops, the ability of this cars, the descendent progressively becomes progressively continuing the contract of the

LOWER PRICES

Reports are drifting across the American border which indicate that prices are dropping in the United States—even in New York. For instance, we hear of yoast beef selling at 35 cents a pound, chicken at 47 cents, and margarine stable at 35 cents. Five-cent cligars are back on New York counters, one bar near Times States is offering the State of States. cigars are once on New York counters, one can near Times Squarse is offering free limits with the beverage. Men's slowes selling a month or two ago at twelve doi-lars are now tagged at seven or reductions. Washing mis-sessing at fifty per cont-reductions. Washing-mis-chines are advertised at 559 a complete living-room aute at 3140, wacum desarers at $2750. The Ann-erican Bureau of Labor Statistics has announced that the cost of living index has fallen again for the fourth

Do these figures indicate that Canada will soon be Do these lightes indicate that Canada will soon be off the high-price shelf? In such matters, this country usually lags a month or three behind the United States, but American changes in price levels and labour conditions, for better or for worse, usually have their de-layed reflections in Canada. We await with interest both the next statements on our cost of living index and the Report of the Royal Commission on Prices soon to be tabled in the Commons.

BRITISH LABOR M.P. SPEAKS OUT

"You cannot ration plenty, except in a totalitarian State," says a British Labor M.P. in one of a series of remarkable articles appearing in the Statesman and Nation on "Socialist Stocktaking." The writer is dealing with planning and controls and analyzing the ing with planning and controls and analyzing the "theory and practice of British Socialism." He says that "both raw material controls and price-fixing were almost instruments, even under wartime conditions." and that the controls "must cease to be effective as on as scarcity disappears."

He goes on to point out that if, for instance, dur ing the next twelve months, steel "comes into balance nd supply exceeds demand, the steel control will automatically cease to function as a sanction against the inefficient producer, just as clothes rationing by coupon becomes futile the moment there are more clothes in the shops than money in the customers' pockets." Thus he says: "You cannot ration plenty,

It appears that the Labor Government finds itself on the horns of dilemma. If it succeeds in bringing on the horns of difemma. If it succeeds in oringing about a condition of plenty it must either go forward 'toward Communism, with complete and permanent controls, price-fixing, wage fixing, and the direction of labor; or release controls and rationing, and allow prices and wages to find their natural levels in a free

The writer of the article contends that what is needed is a "re-definition of Socialist doctrine." He says: "The democratic Socialist does not accept the Communist view that the State should plan in detail Communist view that the State should pinal in decided all production and distribution. It is not our aim either to compel everyone to do the work we think he is best suited to or to provide people with goods accordour definition of their needs. Under proper safeguards, most people prefer to se their labor and to buy their goods in a free market. What the democratic Socialist is determined is that the freedom of the market is a genuine freedom, and this demands interference with price system at many

But that is not Socialism at all; it is democratic capitalism, such as we have here in Canada certainly not what the Labor Party envisaged as So-cialism before it came into power. Wartime economic and industrial planning, with its centralized control subsidizing, price-fixing and rationing were regarded as a ready-made socialist system which could be car-ried over into peacetime. In Canada the chief argu-ment of the Socialists was "What we have done in te of war we can do in peacetime."

Before the war the British Labor Party favored outright Socialism on the Russian plan, with the exception of State control of wages and the direction of labor, to which the labor unions were vigorously opposed. Referring to this, the Labor M.P. says: "If the State was not to decide the allocation of capital. labor and materials between the various needs of in-dustry, by what agency was this allocation to be de-cided? If British Socialism did not mean centralized cutive planning on the Russian model, what did it an? "He goes on to say that it was not until 7, 1947, that "the Cabinet was compelled to define its attitude", when Sir Stafford Cripps "repudiated as totalitarian any form of 'Gosplan'," such as was advocated by the Labor Party in the 'thirties.

It all amounts to this: that the Labor party-or at least, the Labor Government -- has discovered by ex-perience and responsibility that there is a wide difference between theory and practice. There are many indications that the people of Britain are tired of being controlled and rationed, and, as this Labor M.P. rate: "If the British people ever had reason to sus-tet that controls and rationing were being retained their own sake, and not because goods are in short " Contributed by Lewis Milligan THE SUPREME COURT

CANADA'S HIGHEST LAW

The announcement made this week to the effect that the Dominion Government plans to introduce that the Dominion Government plans to introduce legislation to the parliamentary session, which has just opened, that would make the Supreme Court of Canada the nation's final legal authority, was read with interest by the average Canadian as well as by members of the bar.

The proposal is especially interesting to all Canadians at this time in view of the insistence of certain dairy interests on having a supreme court ruiling on olcomargarine appealed to the Privy Council in Lon-don, England. If the right to appeal civil cases to this higher court is abolished, then the margarine question is virtually settled for all time. Appeals in criminal cases were abolished some years ago.

With all due respect to the ability of the Privy Council and speaking purely from a lay viewpoint, it seems something like an affront to the judicious capabilities of our own lawmakers to try to supersede their considered findings on a case with those of a court, which, by its location, might give the impression that it was somewhat handicapped. Since in the matter of competent judiciary functioning there seems little to choose from, there is no apparent reason why the supreme court's findings should not be suffic the supreme courts incomes sound not be suitched to satisfy the most mediculous unless it is from a stand-point of non-prejudice, which may be an influencing factor on reaching a final decision on this matter. Certainly no British court would be at all likely to be biased on any case and this in itself may appear to some to be of sufficient importance to warrant reta ing this final appeal court.

Connections with Great Britain play a vital part in maintaining Commonwealth harmony but where these connections are superfluous their passing would not lessen any ties with the Mother Country. However, their superfluity should be determined beyond all doubt before dispensing with them.

THE CUSTOMER:

VALUABLE INDIVIDUAL

There is increasing evidence abroad that the customer is about to be accorded some of the considera-tion and respect that has been somewhat denied him during recent years. This of course, was to be expected once supply began to catch up with demand but it is not prudent only to extend every consideration to the omer during times when his favour is especially sought. If our business is to be a success in good times and in bad, it is essential that the customer's needs be given priority over everything else.

In his recent message to the investors in the Bank of Toronto, Mr. J. L. Carson, president, referred to the importance of the customer in that business in terms which might well be applicable to any trade

"Each turn in the cycle brings a change in the

"Each turn in the cycle brings a change in the problems, but in facing them our vlewpoint can never change—that in the long run our success must always depend on the welfare of our customers. It is not sufficient that the transaction be profitable to the bank, but that we be sure that it will also further our client's interests. Good banking is essentially the exercise of good judgment.

"In Canada's banking system there are ten insti-tutions in extremely active competition, at all times looking for opportunities to expand their operations and make new connections. A great deal has been said, and is being said, of what the picture would be if, in place of this competition, we had only one govern-ment bank. It is not our thought to enlarge on this, but each individual bank has always to bear in mind that a client, no matter how well his requirements have been taken care of in the past, may go elsewhere for the accommodation he desires if, in his opinion, his present bank is not taking care of him satisfactorily."

"Tied in with good lending judgement is the mat-ter of service and, in fact, it is difficult to know where one begins and the other ends. One could say that must always be merged, as to our mind a vice can only mean taking the closest personal in-terest in everything that pertains to the business welfare of our clients, coupled with the desire to help them in every way possible."

The customer is the person who helps pay the rent, taxes, light, heat, water, food, clothing, doctor dentist and even the undertaker--he's a mighty im

THE MAJORITY RULES

There seems to be a misunderstanding locally as to the actual powers of the mayor or any one other member of a town administrative body in deciding the affairs thereof. It has been suggested just recently for example that one man was responsible for keeping Lindsay's water rate at its present level--that man being the mayor of last year.

This misconception should be cleared up in the minds of the townsfolk without further delay in jus-tice to the former mayor of Lindsay.

It is an indisputable fact that the mayor or any one member of a local governing body cannot block any change in legislation by himself. He may speak so eloquently against the plan as to convice his fellow governors of the unwisdom of a move and thereby sway their decision when the time comes to vote on the matter but, he still has only one vote

In government as we know it municipally, provin-lly and federally, the majority vote decides any issue. What powers of eloquence, etc., may influence the vote is quite another thing and is not to be confused with the voting strength of any member of a legis-

HOW ABOUT THE CUSTOMER?

An Edmonton magistrate has ruled that a bylav which controlled opening and closing hours of gasoline stations is not valid, the reason being that it forced most places to close but allowed a few to stay open.

The bylaw has been operating for more than a ar; was requested originally by station operators themselves. Here, it would seem, is another case of business ac-tually inviting local government to impose restrictive controls to solve a problem which businessmen of common segse and goodwill should have been able to arrange among themselves.

During the war, there may have been reasons for closing up businesses on certain days or at certain hours. This was generally worked out on an official "handicapping" basis, so that there would be no un-fair competition or discrimination. After the war, most of these factors disappeared but many classes of business seemed to prefer keeping the restrictions on, regardless of what customers might be entitled to in

FILLING OUT TAX FORMS

This newspaper is of the opinion that persons who do not receive an annual income large enough to be taxable, need not make out a tax form for the Dominion Government at Ottawa, and we still believe this

If, however, the federal tax collectors order you to end in a tax form filled out, you must comply with the order or request, even though you are not taxable.
In light of this understanding the comment of the President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, President of the Ontario rederation of Agriculture, R. A. Stewart, may be misleading. Can it be that a wholesale demand is being made on farmers by taxing officers, without any information that the demand for a tax report is going to a farmer whom they have rea-son to believe is taxable. This is the only inference one can gather

However, with an election in the offing this year, the stern demands of the federal tax gatherers are likely to be modified, by raising the exemptions and softening demands. Mr. Stewart said in his opening remarks last week in Toronto: "The forcing of hundreds of thousands of farmers who are not taxable to make returns, just to justify the prejudiced thinking of some other groups, seems to me to be a denial of freedom.—Stouffville Tribune.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

In a speech delivered by George A. Drew, National Progressive-Conservative leader, at Calgary, one sentence stands out in bold relief as being well went uttering. In it he said, "We should stop telling our uttering. In the said, we should stop cannot be people they are going to get something for nothing; they never have and they never will.

That is the sort of statement when persons is seldom make. As a rule, they are too prome to be promising heaven and earth to the people, without mentioning that the people themselves have to pay, and pay dearly in taxes, for everything that is done by governments.

Strange to say, Mr. H. Greville Smith, first vicepresident of Canadian Industries, Limited, dwelt on the same theme as Mr. Drew when he spoke at the recent convection of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Vancouver, when he said:

"There are people, well-meaning no doubt, who clamber for government plans of this sort and that,

We shall provide it ourselves out of our national income, the gov ernment's part being confined solely to arranging for taking from Peter and handing out to Paul. The gov-ernment does not itself produce wealth; wealth is the product of the energies of all citizens of the country."

Thes are statements which should be remember when politicians are making glowing promises of what they are going to do for the people. ways gratifying to see effort crowned by success.

An interesting feature of Lindsay Central Exhibition is the apparent awareness on the part of the management of the need for striving continually toward an improved fair. This is manifest in the financial statement when one looks over the long list of permanent improvements which were accomplished in 1948. The fact that these improvements were carried out and that the fair still realized a reasonable profit merits commendation. Lindsay Central Exhibition has become a valuable

THE KING AND HIS PEOPLE

THE KING AND HIS PEOPLE Speaking to American listeners in the BBC series "London Letter," John Connell recently gave this striking summation of the relationship between the British monarch and his people:

"British sentiments and ideas about the institution of monarchy, in this present century, and about the Royal Family, are extremely difficult to understand, but if you want to understand our social fabric, it is extremely important to understand those notions. Constitutionally and politically, the monarchy per-forms an intensely and perhaps increasingly valuable role; that is aimost an axiom now, and it is accepted by aimost everyone in British public life, whatever the tinge of their political thinking in other matters. This constitutional strength and vitality is the creation of the present dynasty—of a succession of sage, sensible and conscientious monarchs who have insensible and conscientious monarcus who have in-herited and enhanced a nearly unique tradition of personal self-effacement and national service. Queen Victoria founded it; George V fortified and enriched the present King worthily and unfalteringly main As a people we approve as universally our political system of constitutional monarchy, as you do of your system of elected Presidents. We find that, as a system, it works."

COMMUNISM: THE DESTROYER OF RELIGIONS

The Toronto Telegram, commenting on the penalty imposed upon Cardinal Mindszenty, for his alleged crimes against the Communist-dominated state of Hungary, brings to the surface the real issue behind the trial of this representative of the Roman Catholic Church—the quarrel between Communism and Re-ligion. That the victim in this case happens to be the exponent of Catholicism does not alter the fact that an exponent of Protestantism would probably be dealt with just as ruthlessly. It is therefore important that people in Democratic countries recognize that all rects are targets for elimination when the Com-

This is clearly indicated in the Telegram comm tary which, after reviewing incidents relative to the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty, observes: "In the case of Cardinal Mindszenty, as in that of

In the case of cardinal Mindszenty, as in that of General Drafa Mikhaliovitch in Yugoslavia, the con-fession is partial. The cardinal has stated that he traded libegally in foreign currency, but he has denied that he plotted against the state or the people. Even if his confession represents the truth, his offense would not be the cause for the life sentence now imposed if not be the cause for the life sestence now imposed if the Communities government did not while to make an example of a Roman Catholic prelate as part of its campaign against religion, the binding force which unites the present with the past, is an invariable concomitant of a revolution which seeks to found a new order. It marked the early years of the French Revolution, it was seen in Nail Germany of the French Revolution, it was seen in Nail Germany or the French Revolution, it was seen in Nail Germany or the French Revolution, it was seen in Nail Germany or the French Revolution, it was seen in Nail Germany or the French Revolution of the French Revolution is the second of the French Revolution of the French Revolution is the second of the French Revolution in the Proposition of the French Revolution is the Proposition of the French Revolution in the Proposition of the French Revolution is the Proposition of the French Revolution in the Proposition of the Propositio

The extent to which Cardinal Mindszenty is guilty or innocent of the crimes he has been convicted of is not the real concern of the Communists. They are interested only in wiping out any active opposition to

DAIRY FARMERS HAVE

SOLUTION IN OWN HANDS

The best solution of milk production and marketing problems is in the hands of the dairy farmers themselves. All of the controls and compulsory schemes must ultimately result in less-than-market-prices for milk and dairy products or they will be discarded by consumers who dominate the governing bodies which give the schemes power.

bodies which give the schemes power.

The basic problem of dairy producers is to find the means of stabilizing the dairy milk supply, whether er by removing surpluses of milk or by supplementing shortages. The processing of surplus milk into less perishable dairy products, particularly dried milk which can be used to augment fluid supply, or sold in other markets, should be undertaken co-pertuively by dairy famrkets, should be undertaken co-pentuively by dairy famrkets, should be undertaken comission sand comiss missions and competent students of dairy problems.

The dairy farmers who ship fluid milk are able collectively to provide adequate facilities for the processing of surplus milk from each major milk market in Canada. The resulting supply of other dairy products such as butter, cheese, and ice cream, would keep the price of milk and all dairy products automatically in line with the effective demand for full milk and would maintain economic balance in dairy production and

There is nothing of permanent value that a milk control board can do on behalf of either producers or consumers of milk products. Such boards inevitably add to the cost of production and distribution and pre vent the free flow of milk into natural markets. Pro-duct channels, established by the choices of consumers, will keep supply at an economic level.

The creation or extension of their own co-operatires, to fill in the gaps in the processing and distribution of their products, is the only effective and pernanent solution to farmers' production and marketing problems.—The Scene from Shingwauk Farm.

CLEANING UP OUR DIRTY WATERS

Condemnation of the Ontario Government, voiced by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters at annual meting in Toronto recently, for its failure its annual meting in Toronto recently, for its failure to take action to prevent pollution of the province's rivers and lakes, focusses attention on the fact that Lindsay, like most other Ontario towns, has been a While agreeing that the matter of polluting Ontario's rivers and lakes with industrial and domestic waste calls for remedial action, it is impossible to con-cur in the suggestion that the Ontario Government cur in the suggestion that the Ontario Government be made solely responsible for bringing about the cleanup. In fact, in the light of interesting disclosures made in an article appearing in Collier's magazine, it might be highly profit had been considered in the light of the problem to be light of its specific circumstances. Of course, it would be sessential that adequate provincial legislation be passed snauring that if one town on a given stream or lake took actions are away with vastern or lake took actions. away with water polution, others slong the same stream would not be permitted to continue to pol-lute it. This would leave the method of the clean-up entirely in the hands of the offending towns and would give them the right to deal with it in the light of their own requirements and to conform with their economic ability

Cleaning up our rivers and lakes need not necessarily be accomplished at a loss as witness the follow-ing interesting observations by the writer of the article referred to above.

"People are beginning to realize," the writer states,
"that money can be saved on pollution control. Wheeling W. Va., currently spends a small fortune in superchlorinating, de-chlorinating, double-coagulating double sedimenting its drinking water. When the River is cleaned up, much of this money can be saved. In 1938, an engineer in Springfield, Ill., discovered that methane gas produced by the bacteria in sewage treament plants could be burned as fuel. Today, the treatment plants in dozens of municipalities are run on sewage gas alone, and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, gen-erates so much electricity from its sewage-gas engines that it sells the power."

These and other factual examples of the advatages which can accrue from river and lake anti-pollu tion measures are evidence that Lindsay, along with hundreds of other Ontario towns, might find it more profitable to tackle their water pollution problem than

No one will deny that Lindsay is ideally situated from a scenic point of view on the Scugog River but no one can enjoy the scenery along the banks, or even on the water, of a polluted river. By the same token, no amount of landscaping will add one whit to the attraction of a dirty waterway The situation in Lindsay calls for a realistic and an artistic approach. It need not be extravagantnot an acusto approach. It need not be extravgantly by carried out and it is entirely probable that careful investigation of the specific problem would disclose an economically feasible plan for solving the water pol-lution problem locally.

HOW MUCH DOES THE RED CROSS KNOW?

Is Canada facing a national disaster in the form of war which may come unexpectedly soon?

That is the question which is uppermost in the minds of a good many Canadians who are caught in the cross-fire of debate over the merits or otherwise of the Canadian Red Cross Society's plan to "nationalize" a blood bank service. On the one hand the Red Cross Society is going ahead full tilt to organize blood banks across the country, and on the other many leading Canadian medical authorities are openly opposing the plan on the grounds that it is unnecessary at the present time and under normal conditions, as they claim

On the surface there seems to be much dissension over the whole plan, which, if it persists, will probably seriously hamper the scheme as undertaken by the Red Cross. This, if in fact there does exist a very real Red Cross. This, if in fact there does exist a very real possibility of a national disaster, could easily lead to a major catastrophe. On the other hand it would seem unlikely, if such an emergency looms, that opposi-would be received from the medical profession. in view of their co-operation during the last World

It therefore remains for the Canadian Red Cr It therefore remains for the Canadan and Cross Society to place all its cards on the table and make the public fully acquainted with the facts. As it now stands the people of Canada do not know whether the need really exists for its proposed service or whether it is an unnecessary undertaking.

A frank statement by the authorities would be welcomed.

LINDSAY SHOULD HAVE BEEN THE FIRST TO HAVE HAD AUXILIARY POWER

It is not surprising, although it is gratifying, to note that the Ontario, Hydro-Electric Power Commis-sion has endorsed in principle the theory of auxiliary power by either diesel or steam, advocated by the Lindsay Post for many years. It is rather disappointing, however, to note that one of the first of these auxiliary power plants has not been allocated to Lindsay whi suffered and still is suffering the effects of a power shortage which may endure for some years.

Believing that the people of Lindsay would be interested in learning the details of efforts put forward to secure auxiliary power for Lindsay by the local commission, the Post has asked Hydro Chairman Claxton to make available correspondence with the Ontario Hydro Commission covering this matter.

It is only natural that details of these negotiations should be desired since the Ontario Commission has not only endorsed the principle of auxiliary power, but has felt it economically practical to install it in sev-eral centres throughout southern Ontario which are,

BARRED FROM POLITICS
Mr. R. A. McEachern, editor of The Financial Post, used a neat phrase to describe those who, by reason of their jobs, are prevented from taking an active role in politics. He termed them political geldings, incapable of exercising their democratic functions as citizens.

Mr. McEachern deprecated the practice of some busi-ness or industrial firms which take the stand that their executives shall not engage in politics, for fear lest such activities interfere with business prospects. Thus a large intelligent group of men and women who believe in free enterprise are deprived of the opportunity to defend in the arena of politics. He stressed that such businesses, whose object it is to protect free enterprise, by imposing such restrictions on their staffs are actually contributing to the weakening of the system, and of democracy -Windsor Star

HEADS WE WIN, TAILS YOU LOSE

Removal of the ceiling price on butter and restictions on the export of dairy products was asked by the Dairy Farmers of Canada at their annual convention in Edmonton. There are no because when the convention of the control of the Edmonton. There can be no reasonable objection to

There is no justification whatever to continuance of those wartime wormout restrictions. This is a free country and dairymen and everybody else are entitled to free markets and free prices

But the dairymen at Edmonton were not content with that reasonable demand. They would go further, much further. They demanded a system that would give them like Lindsay, customers of the parent commission.

Lindsey's requirements at the peak of the crisis were estimated to call for installation of about a 1,000 kilowatt generating unit and at least two plants of capacity have been installed at Hamilton, Ontario, the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. The question everyone is asking now is: "Why didn't Lindsay get one of these plants since it was one of the first towns to advance the suggestion?" The answer to this can, of course, only be revealed by making public the correspondence betwen the local and the parent commissions.

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT RATS?

The disclosure made at a recent meeting of Town Council to the effect that rats were migrating to ad-joining farms from the Town dump, makes an article in February's Reader's Digest of special interest

Captioned "Don't Underrate Brother Rat," the ar-Captioned "Don't Undervate Brother Hat," the ar-ticle discloses that "there are two main species of rats: Rattus Norwegious (the Norway) a burrowing rat; and Rattus rattus, a climbing rat. The Norway is the more aggressive. Attack a climbing rat and he runs. Foke at a Norway with a broom or rake, and quick as a flash he's climbed the handle and bitten

Just how serious a menace rats constitute and how difficult they are to deal with is evident in the following excerpts from the article.

"How many rats are there around your place? Harold Gunderson, rat specialist at Iowa State College. has worked out the following rule of thumb for farmers

"If you never seen a rat but do occasionally not ppings or signs of rat damage, there are from o "If you never seen a rat but go occasionally nouses droppings or signs of rat damage, there are from one to 100. If you see them occasionally at night but never in daytime, there are from 100 to 500. If you see numbers of rats at night and several during the day there are probably from 1,000 to 5,000—not unusual on a farm."

"It has been ealimated that rats annually eat or

"It has been estimated that rate annually est or spoil as much food as 265,000 average U.S. farms can produce" and that very few building materials can be considered absolutely ratproof—Rats have been known to bore through a four-inch concrete floor and a rat's tooth is nearly as hard as carborundum." Tests have shown that rats can gnaw through foam-lass two inches thick in eight nights and all but one the the alloys, some harder than structural steel, used in tests failed to resist their invasion.

According to the author cleanup campaigns are at best but temporarily effective and even experts, work-ing under conditions, expect no more than about 95 per cent kill. "The only kind of effective campaign," he writes "is the kind that never stopa."

Thus it becomes apparent that Lindsay's rat prob-lem is greater than we may have thought and their destruction a huge undertaking.

FALSE PROSPERITY

Those among us who, as soon as there are signs of a slackening off in trade, would almost welcome and there was, should read and digest throughly the contents of the following commentary from the New Westminster "British Columbian".

Weath That Destroys
"Some people have an idea that ware bring presperity. This is a dangerous, ugly deleasion." It is true that there is full employment in time of "It is true that there is full employment in time of

At its due that there is the employment in time of war which causes prosperity of a sort. Less obvious is the terrible process of exhaustion of both men and materials which goes on at the same time."

"After two wars, the Franco-Prussian and world war one, France was broken as a world power. Britain, after two wars, is close to ruin. Germany has come through three modern wars, but it remains to be seen whether she will ever rise again."

Prosperity is based largely on two things. materials and the energy of the people. Both are spent recklessly in war. War accelerates developments in human affairs, stimulates inventive power, but does it contribute in the long run to human progress? Histo offinite in the long in to fitting progress. Supposing all businesses in Canada were permitted to operate on such a system. No need to worry too much about keeping costs down or of making improvements; profits safe and sure and whopping subsidies from good ol Ottawe every time prices fell below the floor. It would be a wonderful system—wonderful for everyone cept the taxpayer.

It is difficult to understand how any organization could seriously consider such a preposterous demand. The only explanation is that this organization is not an ordinary one. It is the one that staunchly defended the illegal and utterly unjustified ban on margarine, a ban that gave butter makers an absolute monopoly. To an organization like that "heads we win, tails you lose" must look like a pretty square deal.

THE CARDINAL'S ARREST

The arrest of Cardinal Mindszenty by the Hungar-ian government has been greeted by a wave of indig-nation that seems to be world-wide, and in Roman Catholic circles it looks as though the prelate will soon become a martyr. While not attempting to defend this breach of human freedom by the Communists in Europe, many Protestants will be struck by the great difference between the excitement created by the ar-rest of the Cardinal and the lack of it when Bishop Ordass, The Lutheran Primate to Hungary, and of Lutheran leaders were also arrested in Hungary tant church bodies, but there was no eagerness on the tant curren bounes, out there was no segretness on the part of state departments and political leaders all over the world to come charging to Bishop Ordass' assis-tance. And the world's press let the Lutheran Prim-ate go to his cell without making much fuss over a blant to relieve second.

While the difference between the attention given to the Mindszenty and Ordass arrests may not have been unexpected, it nevertheless underlines the tremendous hold the Roman church has succeeded in Cardinal, of course, as Primate of a church which claims at least nominal allegiance from sixty per cent of the Hungarian people, would demand some atten-tion. But more than that, he is a "prince" of a church with a world-wide organization and unparalleled ma-chinery for publicity and propaganda that commands instant attention from press and radio. Immediately he was arrested the influence of the Roman church saw to it that every means of communication blared out the news and played upon public opinion. In short the contrast it made to the silence which greeted the Latheran Primate's arrest represented the extent to which Roman Catholicism has gained power in a large part of the world. There is much in this situation to make all lovers of freedom to pause and think.

The great fact of February is the increasing light. Mornings start sooner. This in itself would not be an advantage; but, when one has to get up anyways, it is less severe to get up in the morning than in a continuance of the night in which one went to bed. Besides having more morning, February also has more afternoon. The three preceding months have no evenings. February brings the promise of evenings.

February brings the crow, outlandish outrider in the long procession of Spring. Laughter is heard more frequently in the streets under the sun. Then (excep-ting on the Coast) there come sleet-armored winds and record cold snaps, and then corn snow crisping and record cold shape, and then corn show crisping under still more sunlight.

Sharers of the loop of increasing light, the peoples of North America and Russia and Britain feel a renewal of primitive hopes. They peer out of their dwellings much as their ancestors peered out of caves, speculating on the brightening prospect of the land and on the vast stirring of nature. Sharers in the strengthening sun, these Northern people are also sharers in the awful decision of what man may become, whether an adequate being com-petent to survive and flourish in his environment of earth and other planets, or an uncertain creature neer ing again from the cave

Let the free world not be too much beguiled by February's quickening light. Whatever effect is February's quickening light. Whatever effect it may have on millions of Russians, little of the light gets in-have on millions of Russians, little of the light gets in-to the Kremer of the light gets in the propose of spirit to bring themselves closer to-renewed surge of spirit to bring themselves closer to-getber in the purpose of peace with an end to bickering and a great leap forward in mutual accord. Then they will be too strong to lose the world, and some they will be too strong to lose the world, and some future February's light may begin to filter even into the Kremlin.--Printed Word.

RIGHT OF REVOLUTION

The town of Pembroke on the Ottawa River prom-ises to be the scene of a cause celebre unless the gov-ernment or a local merchant lose their nerve.

George Simpson, local jeweller, opening a new ore, announced in placards in his windows "No 25% luxury tax on these goods." It wasn't a first offence inxury tax on tness goods." It wasn't a first offence. He had been accused and found guilty of a previous omission of making returns and paying the tax. And he had paid the fine imposed. In speaking in his own defence, however, he had said: "I object to being a tax collector for the federal government . . I question the constitutional that the constitutions is the constitution of the constitution of the constitution of the second transfer of the second tr the constitutionality of his law that says I must work for nothing. I am going to take this to a higher court. The department is acting contrary to the Bible have broken no law which is in harmony with revolution; that is, the right to refuse allegiance to, and to resist the government, when its tyranny or inefficiency are great and unendurable.

Whether Mr. Simpson can sustain his challenge 75 mains to be seen. His right of challenge cannot be questioned. One may wonder, perhaps, whether the particular instance is worth an outright defiance of the law, or whether equal results desired might not be achieved by less radical means. But, where a man is ready to accept the consequences of failure, his right remains to defy a law with which his conscience cannot agree.

The Barons at Runnymede established that right and built it into Magna Carta. Simon De Montfort challenged the existing law and created the first parliamentary government. John Hampdon defied the King. The American colonists defended, by revolution, the right of men to be parties to their own taxation.

But there is another phase of this issue that, friendly as we might be to Mr. Simpson's general thesis, we think is equally important. The government has passed a law. The law has been defied. The obliga-tion rests upon the government to defend its law, if it is defensible or, if it is not, to abrogate the law. do less than that, to let even one man challenge the justice of a law, and not to account to that challenge, is to bring all law into disrepute. Bad laws should be repealed, not defied.—Joseph Lister Rutledge BEST HOPE FOR PEACE In the management

In the proposed North Atlantic pact lies our great-and most realistic hope for maintaining peace, or at least staving off war. Had the Kaiser known definitely that the U.S.

would come against him, he would hardly have had war in 1914. Had Hitler counted the U.S. among his enemies, the 1939 war would not have been

It isn't just in the military sense that the North Atlantic pact is so crucial for the future of the wes-tern world. It is presently our best and most realistic hope for working out a modus vivendi on the economic front; of achieving some progress toward allevia or curing the accursed dollar-sterling convertib problem so perious to Canada-and the standard of liv. ing of every Canadian.

CURES FOR HOODLUMISM

There are two main causes of juvenile delinquency and hoodlumism, in the opinion of informed Canadians answering a Financial Post questionnaire: (a) A break down in discipline and authority in the home and school; (b) The influence of "blood and thunder" motion pictures, radio programs and comic books.

As solutions, the majority favored increased sport and recreational facilities, which would channel youthful energy into healthier and more constructive out rui energy into neatmer and more constructive of lets. The majority opposed any policy of "coddii youthful offenders; some urged severe sentences, cluding strappings for those guilty of violence. (or two suggested the need of army discipline.

THESE ARE DIFFICULT DAYS FOR HOSPITALS

The year-end financial statement of the Ross Memorial Hospital clearly shows that these are days of difficult operational problems for such institutions. This institution lost over two-thousand dollars in 1948 even after all grants had been absorbed.

even after all grants had been absorbed.

For some years now Lindaay's population has been growing as has that of the surrounding district and this has been putting an added strain on the facilities of the hospital serving the area. There is evidence to indicate that the resources of the Ross Memorial Hospital, financial and otherwise, have reached the saturation point.
What then of the future? Will the hospital, through lack of adequate funds, be forced to confine its scope to its present limits? If so, what is to become of the overflow of patients requiring hospital treatment and if not, where will the money come from to encourage

It seems that these are things which must be considered by every district resident and, if possible, a satisfactory arrangement arrived whereby the needs of the hospital will be met.

of the hospital will be met.

Vast sums of public money are being expended annually in Lindsay and district on schemes which are virtually non-essential. Isn't it about time that more thought be given to assisting an institution which plays such a vital role in the life of this community? · Have you anything to suggest?

TALKING TRAFFIC SIGNAL

The British are often regarded as being a slow people, in the adoption of modern ideas, but occasionally they do move out in front of the rest of the world. One of the latest British traffic safety developments, first of its kind in the world, we are told, is a talking traffic signal which was demonstrated recently.

This new invention is an automatic device, opera-ting independently or in conjunction with traffic lights, which gives spoken warnings to pedestrians at road crossings. One typical message given by the machine at the demonstration was "Before crossing look right, look left, look right again. Thank you." The apparatus used for this warning, weighing about 30 pounds, was contained in a box fastened to the top of the signal post. It can operate alone, with a timing device, or synchronized with a normal traffic signal. It is pointed synchronized with a normal tranic signal, it is pointed out that the new signal does not shout its instructions. It quietly coaxes people across the road or warns them of the need for looking left and right before stepping

This sounds like an excellent idea, and one which is worthy of being given a thorough trial on this con-tinent as well as in the British Isles. We can well im-agine that the warning voice could be heard when the pedestrian is not thinking of looking at the traffic signal. The British engineers who developed this idea may have invented something which might have a salutory effect on the number of accidents to nedes trians at street crossings .- Oshawa Times-Gazette,

CANADIAN RED CROSS BLOOD TRANSFUSION SERVICE

The Canadian Red Cross is preparing at this time to extend their randomide Blood Transfusion Service to the Province of Ontario, and soon every hospital in the Province will be supplied with a complete supply of the different types of blood for all needs. This service will be free to all people and will be available at all times.

In order to supply this blood, each branch is being asked to procure donors, and the share asked of local branch is 600 donors... Each donor will be asked for blood only twice a year.

Cards are available at several organization headquarters, and at some of the industries in town, as well as at Gregory's Drug Store, 68 Kent Street West.

PLEASE DROP IN AND FILL OUT A CARD AND BE A BLOOD DONOR

For further information call any of the following:-

Mrs. Chas Perkins, 81 Bond Street. Phone 375M. Mrs. W. F. Parkin, 8 Glenelg Street West. Phone 891J.

or Jasper Forman, 26 Bond Street. Phone 223W or 788.

NEXT time you are in your bank, notice how many people keep their cheques face down . . . just like you . . . while they make out their deposit slips. Notice how they close their passbooks before handing them inand get them back closed too.

Canadian bank service is recognized by everyone as confidential. Every employee, when he came into the service of your bank, took a solemn declaration of secrecy Your relationship with your bank is the most vitally confidential business relationship you have.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied-where every bank is a political tool, every banker a public official working for the State! State monopoly of banking, proposed by socialists here, would open your banking transactions to political intrusion, Praise where praise is morited applies to the following observations on the snow removal and sanding operations being carried out in Lindsay of late.

There is no doubt that citizens generally are impressed with the efficiency and thoroughness which has marked the carrying out of this work in recent weeks. It is a pleasant privilege, therefore, to con-gratulate the Board of Works on this improvement. It might be well to point out, however, that if this improved state of affairs is to continue, the Works Dept. will have to receive a high degree of co-opera-tion from motorists. In speaking with the superincars and trucks which are parked on thoroughfares while this work is in progress are the greatest obstacles to efficiency stacles to efficiency.

Doubtless, then, since every motorist enjoys the streets thoroughly cleaned of heavy snow, they will make it their business to see that they are in no way responsible for making the task more difficult.

THE LEVEL OF PRICES

"The great generating forces behind the rise in prices have been losting strength", say the Monthly Review of the Bank of Nova Scotia. The backlops of demand from the Bank of Nova Scotia. to believe that the bong-sustained rise in prices may have run its course.

In discussing the doubling of the wholesale price level since pre-var, the Review points out that some prices have risen a good deal more than others. Prices for the products of the great primary industries heave risen substantially more as compared with the period between the two wars than the general average of wholesale prices. So, too, have building materials, though such a comparison is not conclusive weight of the price of an unbalanced price structure, "It is a fact that marked changes in the price structure of Canada and marked changes in the price structure of Canada and the United States have occurred in a comparatively short period — changes of a character very like those of past booms".

Behind the apparent lack of balance in the price structure lie the extraordinary and partly temporary demands of the early postwar period. The durable-goods industries already stimulated by the war were further stimulated by the requirements of business and consumers, accumulated as a result of the war and the long period of depression before it. The demand for basic materials and foodstuffs increased rather than declined when the war was over, in part because of the concentration on North America of the urgent de-mands of war-ravaged countries.

Now, asys the Review, this pattern of demand is beginning to change. Three years of high production and rising prices have whitted down the backlogs of demand. There are no longer excessive demands for consumer goods, and even the backlogs of demand for automobiles and housing have been considerably radiced. Insectiones have been replenished and built up. Notable progress has also been made in expanding and modernizing the capital equipment of indus-ding and modernizing the capital equipment of industry and agriculture, though much still remains to be done particularly in adding to electric power capacity, in developing natural resources and in improving transportation and educational facilities.

transportation and educational facilities. Meanwhile, export demands have been declining despite the advent of the European Recovery Program. Recovering production atroad has reduced the urgency of demands on North America. "Though EEP helps to austin Europe's ability to import, there can be no doubt that her purchases will be carefully limited for some time to come. Nor, from a Canadian standpoint can too much reliance be placed on off-above purchases with ERF funds since they may be restricted as U.S. aupplies become more plentiful." The Review also noggrest but there is no longer a The Review also noggrests that there is no longer a typically and 1947, there can be little doubt that the money cupply was excessive in relation to the supply of goods available at existing prices. By the end of last year, however, prices had risen very substantially and the time savings of noninnesses and innivituals have been heavily drawn upon. Consumer credit and mortgage borrowing have expanded substantially. Bond financing has also increased notably, as has plank lending. Restraints on the continued expansion of borrowing have been coming increasingly into play, natural restraints resulting from the relationships between debt

HOW ABOUT A "NIGHT STRIPE"

ON FREIGHT CARS

The other night out at Mariposa station four people in a car met with disaster when the vehicle plowed into a freight train spanning a level crossing. Three of them were hurt badly, and the car was wrecked.

of them were nurt usuly, and the car was wrecken.
This is not the first time such an accident has occurred at this crossing and it is not rare to hear of such accidents in other parts of Canada. The thought arrises: "How could such accidents be avoided at a minimum of expense to the railways?"

We recall having read an article in an American map azine a while ago describing the use of a special re-flective type of material, made in tape and other forms, which is employed extensively in the United States for highway and industrial safety markings. The low installation cost of this material, as cited in the ar-ticle, might make it pracical for striping freight cars ctore, might make it practical for stripling freight cars and, if it were so, this in turn would serve as an eye-catcher for the unwary motorist approaching a crossing at night. Then, again, if such an undertaking were too costly, perhaps this luminous material could be used to advantage at the approaches to crossings.

There are probably many other economically feasible ways in which level crossings could be protected against night accidents if the problem is tackled—the important thing being that it is.

It seems unfair that users of the highways are called upon to employ numerous protective devices on their vehicles and at the same time be exposed unduly to dangers at level railway crossings which might be eliminated by low cost, but effective, warning signs.

Lindsay has a very definite problem in this connection with its several level crossings. It is possible that the special reflective material referred to above, or some other equally striking substance could be employed to give added protection to motorists at these points. There have been several attempts in the past to have somehing done to caution motorists approachto have somening one to caution motorast approaching these crossings in Lindsay but the high cost involved in wig-wags or other crossing warnings has usually defeated the move in its early stages. Perhaps this can be overcome now by some low cost installation using a modern reflective material in such a way to command attention. At least it would seem

DEMONSTRATIONS BY STRIKERS CAN BE DEFINED AS A RIOT

Where public disturbances resulting from labour strife occur, the municipal authorities usually call on the local police and, if necessary, the province police to quell the disorder. The violence in some of these dis-turbances has been such to come within the Criminal Code definition of a riot. Not everyone may realize that the law looks on rioting as a very serious offense indeed. The Code describes a riot as "an unlawful assembly which has begun to disturb the peace

Section 91 of the Code states that every sheriff, deputy sheriff, mayor or other head offleer, and justice, of any county, city or town, who has notice that there are within his jurisdiction twelve or more persons riotously and tumultuously assembled together to the disturbance of the peace shall read the Riot Act. This is a proclamation in the name of the King, commanding all persons so assembled to disperse or face a very serious charge which, following conviction, provides punishment as severe as life is

The Code also provides that where a Mayor or other municipal officer, having notice that there is a riot within his jurisdiction, "without reasonable excuse omits to do his duty in suppressing such riot, is guilty of an indictable offense and liable to two years' im-

The argument of the industrialists came under four main headings.
First, profits as currently reported include a substantial element of inventory gains, which are illusory and non-recurrent. Second, profits as computed under the usual accounting procedure are overstated, because reserves charged for depreciation of fixed assets are includants to render such facilities as areas. because reserves charged for depreciation of fixed as-sets are inadequate to replace such facilities at pre-sent costs of construction and equipment. Third, fig-seed costs of construction and equipment. LET'S MAKE THEM WANT TO COME BACK!

A thirteenth of the earth's crust is aluminum. It is found in mountains and gems, in vegetables and clay, in meat and water — practically everywhere.

Long ago the Romans knew it as a salt. They called it "alumen" and used it as a medicine or for dyeing cloth.

Until the middle 1800's, the metal aluminum was rarer and more costly than gold.

Napoleon III had his own personal tableware made of it.

Modern science found a way to make it cheaper. That is why, today, everybody can buy useful and lasting articles made of aluminum.

In Canada we have none of the high-grade aluminum are called "bauxite". Canadians bring it in by shiplood from British Guiana — a voyage of 3000 miles.

Northeastern Canada has the world's largest aluminum smelter. Alcan built in there, at Arvida. This site was chosen because it is close to both a port for acean ships bringing bauxite and an abundant source of hydro-

Until Alcan harnessed this water power, it ran to waste. Smelting aluminum needs vast supplies of power. The electricity required to produce one ton of aluminum would light your hours for fifteen years.

More than 15,000 people operate this Canadian industry. They earn more than thirty-five million dollars a year These earnings flow across Canada.

Alcan (Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd.) makes aluminum ingots. More than 1000 independent manufacturers across Canada shape aluminum into light, strong, non-rusting articles for your use. The variety grows daily.

In addition to supplying these firms, Alcan sells about $85% of its ingoes to other countries. This aluminum is now Canada's sixth largest export, a source of much needed money from abroad.

Because Alcan does market so much abroad, it is able to make aluminum in such large quantities that, in ingot form, it can be purchased more cheaply in Canada than anywhere else in the world.

TOURIST APPEAL

TOURIST APPEAL
This is an age wherein the tourist dollar is being avidly pursued by every country in the world outside of those sheltering behind the Fron Curstan. It is untercetting to note the wide variety of attractive hierature and tourist guidance information which is crucialised to encourage the trade from the dollar

In the light of that tourist attraction material wh has reached this office, it can be safely said that that which is sent out by Great Britain heads the list in point of general attractiveness and genuine tourist appeal.

"Current Events", a regularly issued tourist pub-lication originating in the United Kingdom, is a mas-terpiece in tourist literature. It is an emdeavor which might be studied to advantage by all other countries, or provinces of countries, seeking to curry the favor of tourists.

Attractively designed covers on each issue are ; actractively designed covers on each issue are per-haps the key to their appeal--usually they are scenes of places which instantly arouse the desire to see, the first essential in any tourist appeal. However, this particular tourist attraction booklet does not lose this particular tourist attraction booklet does not lose that appeal with the flipping over of the cover to examine its contents. ON WATCHING THE OTHER FELLOW

The story is told of a certain restaurant proprieto who owned a stand on a very choice corner of at American city. His restaurant prospered and he remarkably well until opposition appeared on the scene From then on he spent so much time worrying about what the other fellow was doing that he completely neglected his own business and shortly afterwards,

This incident, reportedly based on fact, comes to mind when we think of the attention the dairy indus-try is focussing on the margarine industry since the sale of the latter product was declared legal in Canada nate of the latter produce was declared legal in Canada recently. Everything possible is being done by the some who claim to be guarding the best interests of the dirty industry to cripple the sale of margarine with absolutely no visible effort, is being made to proyagandize hutter and promote its sale on a broader sale on a broader sale in in it possible then, that the dairy industry stands to suffer sections reverses unless it tends to its own kiniting and lets margarine go its way?

It may even be that those who comprise the dairy Industry have to free themselves of their avowed pro-tective agents and seek their own ways and means of keeping their product allve and to the front in a com-petitive market if they are not to meet with the fate of the covetous restaurant keeper.

AN IMPORTANT ASSET TO ANY FARM

Frequently in the past, The Post has emphasized the great importance of farm woodlots. It has contended that these patches of bushland on farms can be made to pay real dividends to farmers fortunate enough to possess them only if they are given proper attention and scientifically handled.

and scientificatly handled.
It is interesting, therefore, to note what Robson Black, Canadian Forestry Association president, recently had to say on this subject and we are grateful to the Bowmanville Statesman for bringing it to our tetestion. In his remarks Mr. Black pointed out that the more than 2,000,000 acres in Ontario covered by "the multitude of little forests" belonged to tree-crops and to nothing slee in asturies repertorie. They were what was left over when the farmer's plow turned its last world furner. Each inflicitude forest constained the account of the control o

Windfalls do occur. As a matter of fact, it's not long ago that a gendeman in an Ontario industrial centre received the picasant news that he had won the tidy sum of $25,000 simply because he held as with the none-too-original pronouncement to his children that money doesn't grow on trees.

Unfortunately, there is more than a fair share of the globe's population suffering from the delusion that money does grow on trees. Witness the state of Organ, which held an autumn referendum on a scheme to pay a pension of $50 at month to all men of 56 and over and the same amount to all women of 56 and over, even without the "means" test. The Organism not only approved the plan with whatery, but on the same ballot plumped for higher income tax exemutions.

Came the dawn and a study of practical details.

Somebody with a flair for mathemetics discovered, to his and the state governor's borror, that in 1949, there would be more than 176,000 male and tensale

there would be more than 175,000 mole and female the Corgonians eligible for the pension and that the cost to the state would be in excess of $100,000.000 a year. This autronomical figure turned out to be three times the state's budget for all purposes. Not only had the get-rel-quick voters figured the fact that such a sum could not materialize except through ruinous taxes, but they had voted for tax reduction. All to the tasks, but they and voted to har Yeatstoon. Was in all, the Oregon Legislature is in a pretty fair pickle. Whether or not the facts were pointed out to tha other before the referendum is beside, the point. The obvious moral is that the giltter of money growing on trees was far brighter than any glow cast by com-mon sense.—Stoufiville Tribune

THE DANGER OF HALF LISTENING

THE DANCER OF HALF LISTENING
It was twelve years ago that Ornon Welles created a panic on the Atlantic seaboard of the U.S.A. by breadcasting an extremely realistic vernion of H. G.
Welle' story about an invasion from Mars. People field to the mountain, rushed about roads in terror, failted, telephoned the police, the military, the White House —behaved, in fact, as if Old Nick had taken possession of them. When they learned that the cause of their of them. When they learned that the cause of their alarm was simply a radio program they were very mere put out.

Revently a radio station in Ecuador broadcast this same program, changing it only by substituting names of Ecuadorian people and places for those used by the ingenious Mr. Welles. The effect was the same, becopie rushed about in wild terror, and it took many hours to convince them that the radio program was nothing more than a rather atimulating entertainment. Then they retagated by burning down the radio sta"What Are the Wild Waves Saying?"
